IT/IS:

A Tongue in Cheek Look at Our “Love/Hate” Relationship

Thursday, October 17, 2013

Bob Short
Senior Systems Administrator

Bob has been involved with computers since the TI-99/4A and Atari days. He is passionate about technology. Employed as an IT guy for over 15 years, he brings a well-rounded perspective on the world of IT.

Bob has 4½ years of experience in healthcare IT, having worked for Catholic Health Initiatives (Franciscan) as a Microsoft systems engineer, then as supervisor for Microsoft Engineers in Region 5 (WA/OR). He has experience overseeing planning, implementation, and maintenance of physical and virtual Microsoft Windows based servers for ambulatory and acute care center.

Bob is currently Sr. Systems Administrator at World Vision with a deep passion for exploiting current technologies to enhance connectivity and end user experience. He enjoys teaching and evangelizing new technologies with light humor for optimum understanding.

Topic Description:

As a user, experience with IT/IS departments everywhere can be very frustrating. Bob will walk us through what is really going on behind the scenes, why they have all those pesky rules, and interpret some of the jargon that’s thrown around. We’ll also learn how the IT/IS department is a critical part of our everyday work, even if we don’t realize it, and tips and tricks to keep our workstations and servers running smoothly.

If you have ever wanted to pick an IT guy’s brain, now is the time! Bring your questions!
