2018 TAHIMA BOARD INTRODUCTIONS

"Disease and Dis-ease: A naturopathic perspective"

By Dr. Jack Johnson

Dr. Johnson is in his first year of residency with Peninsula Natural Health Clinic. A native of Tacoma, he completed his undergraduate studies at the University of Washington in Seattle prior to earning his Doctorate of Naturopathic Medicine (ND) at The National University of Natural Medicine in Portland, Oregon. His medical education includes completing a six-month rotation in cardiopulmonary primary care and a two-year rotation in naturopathic gastroenterology focusing on irritable bowel syndrome (IBS) and small intestine bacterial overgrowth (SIBO). Other focuses of his include minor surgery, men's health, physical medicine, and primary care. Additionally, he advocates for the naturopathic medical profession to the United States congress annually. Dr. Johnson is an avid northwest sports fan and enjoys spending time with his wife and puppy.
